

Static publication and PDF

Typst compiles typeset documents into PDF. A publication website uses separate static chapter pages, navigation links, assets and a local search index. Structural validation and visual inspection are complementary checks.